COUNTY OFFICIALS IN TOUR OF WEST TEXAS

JUDGE JEFF T. KEMP AND COMMISSIONERS TELL OF LONG MOTOR TRIP.

On a recent trip to West Texas for the annual session of the Association for County Judges and Commissioners Judge Jeff T. Kemp, county judge of Milam county, and Luther McDonald and H. A. Fuchs, commissioners, traveled 1221 miles and report much of interest.

The party left Cameron three days in advance of the convention, spending the first night in Ballinger. The trip was made in the auto of Judge Kemp. At Ballinger Mr. Fuchs stopped off to look after some cattle he has on the range there. At Ballinger they were joined by Frank Reichert who formerly resided at Buckholts.

From Ballinger the party went to San Angelo and then to Carlsbad where the state tubercular sanitarium was visited. They went on to Sterling City where they met Rogers Hefley, a nephew of J. B. Rogers and Sam Hefley of Cameron. He is in charge of the Ford Agency there and is doing well. Fine crops reported around Sterling City.

At Big Springs, the next stop, the party met Frank Pool who was former tax assessor of Milam county and brother of Judge R. B. Pool of Cameron. Here they also met J. W. Reeder who at one time resided here.

They then went to Lamesa, through Dawson and Lynn counties, spending Saturday night in Lubbock. Here they were met by W. K. Dickinson, the first citizen of Lubbock. He was one time a resident of Cameron and served on the board of Aldermen.

Martin Ruby, former Cameron boy, is city manager at Lubbock. The party did not see Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alex Bonds who recently moved to Lubbock, but injury developed they are comfortably situated.

With Mr. Dickenson they saw the city and visited the School of Technology.

At Plainview they attended church on Sunday morning. Cotton crops everywhere seem to be overestimated, but the grain crop is reported good.

At Memphis in Hall county they saw Uncle Bill Wilson, former resident of Milam county and at one time Vice President of the First National Bank here. He is an uncle of Edgar Wilson of Cameron.

The route then took them through

FALL IS NEAR SIX INCHES IN CAMERON

HEAVIEST RAIN IN TWO YEARS RESTORES BUSINESS CONFIDENCE.

Rainfall that had reached near six inches to Tuesday night has drenched farm lands in Milam county, extending to practically all sections.

In Cameron the fall was the largest in two years. South of the county capital the fall is said to have been hard and San Gabriel and Little River were rising rapidly but it thought they will not overflow into the valleys.

The county engineer, A. F. Mitchell and crew were at the new bridge Tuesday afternoon to remove obstructions about its bases so as to give all possible protection.

Heavy rains in Williamson county are reported and San Gabriel River is certain to overflow, it is said. The rain began on last Friday with a cold norther. Sections of the county south of Cameron were soaked and roads became practically impassable.

At this time the road leading to Buckholts is impassable and a detour to Yarellton is necessary.

The road to Thorndale by San Gabriel and by Rockdale are both practically impassable. To reach Thorndale travel is necessary by Granger and Taylor.

All fall feed, winter grains and ranges will be guaranteed by this rain. It is certain to restore confidence for next year although more rain will be needed for the fall and winter season.

KNIGHTS COLUMBUS POSTPONE MEETING

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE LARGER ATTENDED WHEN HELD IN FUTURE.

Edward B. Hess head of the Knights of Columbus order in Cameron, on last Monday postponed the scheduled entertainment and meeting in the hall in Cameron on account of the weather.

Heavy rains had fallen throughout the county and it was thought advisable not to hold the meeting at that time.

Judge John Watson, district judge, will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

Although no date has been set for the meeting, it is expected that it will be held here within the next two weeks or at some date convenient for the public.

The public will be invited to share the entertainment with the Knights in their newly furnished and commodious hall in Cameron.

Hair Curling Machine Highly Appreciated

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farmer of Austin, demonstrators for the permanent waving machine installed by Miss Lalla Meyers beauty parlor, were in Cameron Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. They installed the machine and a number of patrons were served during Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer operate a beauty parlor in Austin but spend some time each year on the road for the New York concern installing and demonstrating these machines.

Miss Lalla Meyers will have an efficient operator on hand at all times to serve her patrons at this machine.

Mrs. W. H. Tucker of Dallas, after a pleasant visit to her sisters, Mesdames Price and McCall, left Tuesday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Corinne Anderson in Waco.

Base Ball Game Is Postponed; Teams Line Up for Fight.

The base ball game scheduled between the Lions Club and the Cameron All Stars, to have been played here on Tuesday, has been postponed on account of the rain and will not be played until some date next week.

Paul Webb in charge of the Lion's team is making all possible preparation for the game as is Wm. Rogers in charge of the Cameron All Stars.

The game will be full of thrills and will be well worth the price of admission for the student loan fund.

FARMALL TRACTOR TO SOLVE FARM NEEDS

MILAM COUNTY HARDWARE COMPANY DEMONSTRATES NEW IMPLEMENT.

The farm tractor, heretofore considered useful on the farm for breaking land and for few power needs, has developed a usefulness far beyond that.

The Milam County Hardware Company, agents for the International Harvester Company, selling the Farmall Tractor, is showing something new to farmers in this section of the county.

For several weeks the Farmall tractor has been demonstrated here and with a few days sunshine demonstrations will be made near Ben Arnold. It is planned to hold the demonstration Friday but it is thought also that the ground will be too wet.

The Farmall tractor is equipped with cultivator so that it can be used not only in the land breaking season but for cultivation of crops.

The tractor as now sold takes the place of mules and horses on the farm and as a table of costs will show in an advertisement in this issue of the Herald, can be operated much cheaper than mule and horse power. It is interesting to note the evolution that has taken place in the manufacture of farm tractors.

The Farmall seems to have met every need of the farm. It is used for planting and for cultivating. A farmer can cultivate growing crops after they have reached a fair stage of maturity.

Down at Taft, Texas, a Corpus Christi hardware dealer recently sold 100 of these tractors. At Rosebud 34 of these tractors have been sold.

In Cameron and surrounding country the Milam County Hardware Co. has a number of prospects and will place a number of these tractors in the county this year. They will bring about evolution in cultivation methods on the farms.

CAMERON STATE BANK BIG ASSET TO CITY

STRONG SHOWING MADE BY BANK DESPITE CROP FAILURE IN MILAM.

COMMERCIAL CLUB IS BACKING UP EXHIBIT

AGRICULTURAL COMMITTEE SCHEDULES PRIZES FOR POULTRY MEN HERE.

Cameron's annual poultry show will succeed despite the drouth and depletion of poultry stocks.

On Friday and Saturday November 20 and 21 the show will be held in Cameron. Poultry exhibitors from over the county as well as adjoining counties have been asked to participate in the exhibits.

A good schedule of prizes has been offered by the committee. The show will be in charge of Wm. Cobb as chairman of agricultural committee of the commercial club; Geo. Banzhaf, county agent and Mrs. Etta W. Ringgold, home demonstration agent.

It is thought the show will be held in the Hefley building formerly occupied by the Henne & Meyer Co.

While the drouth has taken much of the poultry from the farms, it is said that much of the basic stock has been preserved and indications are that the exhibit will be up to standard.

The dates and schedule of prizes are announced in a quarter page advertisement in this issue of the Herald.

CITIZENS BANK HERE MAKES GOOD SHOWING

LARGEST BANK IN MILAM CO. MAKES GOOD SHOWING DESPITE DROUTH.

With more than a million, two hundred thousand dollars on deposit the Citizens National Bank in its published statement today makes a remarkable showing despite the drouth conditions.

The total loans are lower than for the same period last year while the statement shows cash quickly available to be $613,904. and other resources in comparison.

While the drouth has been severe and with more than usual withdrawals from the bank in funds for buying feed, it was thought the resources would be greatly reduced but the statements of this bank as well as other Cameron banks show the condition of the county is good, despite our crop failure.

To be able to make the showing as indicated by the statement of this bank as published elsewhere in this issue, speaks volumes for the economic stability of the country as well as for the exceptional management of the bank by O'Quinn M. Smith and associates.

The New Cameron Drug Company will present an Edison Tone Test on a November dating to be designated. Announcement has been made of the coming tone test but no date has been designated.

The company is giving the New Cameron Drug Co., a tone test this year. The local representatives are delighted that they will be able to present celebrated artists in this most excellent musical event.

As yet no artists have been selected but it is known the New Cameron Drug Co., will have the choice of a very wide selection of Edison artists.

The public here will await with interest the forthcoming announcement concerning the tone test.

No Damage to New Bridge Says Official

No damage has accrued to the new bridge for Milam county across Little River says A. F. Mitchell, county engineer.

The false structure used to put up the span was swept away by flood waters early Tuesday afternoon but the span is now resting securely on the mammoth piers and all seems safe. The river reported out of banks early Wednesday had subsided to some extent.

The new bridge is expected to be completed within the next sixty days.

FIRST NATIONAL IS IN GOOD CONDITION

OLDEST BANK IN COUNTY IS SECOND STRONGEST STATEMENT SHOWS.

Fred B. Cable in making financial statement to the Comptroller of Currency at Washington shows the condition of the First National Bank to be excellent and with deposits totaling $580,526.23 of this amount $505,526.23 is individual deposits.

Loans are lower than for this period last year and the deposits are only a few thousand off.

Prosperity is with us despite the fact that drouth conditions have prohibited crop production and the banks of Cameron in addition to the First National which is the oldest bank in Milam county, are able to take care of the business demanded of them.

The statement of the First National Bank is published elsewhere in this issue.

BELOVED CITIZEN IS LAID TO REST HERE

MANY PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF BUSINESS MAN WHO DIED SUDDENLY.

Frank C. Mondrik, 49, for more than three decades a leading business man of Cameron and universally loved, died at his home here at 7:30 o'clock Monday October 12, 1925.

Death was caused by hemorrhages superinduced by stomach ailment. His death came suddenly following a turn for the worse at about seven o'clock.

Sunday-afternoon Mr. Mondrik although not feeling very well was riding with his family. For several months he had been ill at intervals and about 14 days before his death suffered an attack. Early in the evening of Sunday October 11 physicians were summoned and a nurse called. Dr. W. R. Newton, brother in law, responded then called in other physicians. His condition was thought grave but he was restored and the belief expressed that he would recover if he could pass the night without further trouble.

About 6 o'clock Monday morning he suffered another hemorrhage and when Dr. Newton reached the bedside the patient was sinking fast and in a short time breathed his last.

When the sad intelligence was communicated the people were profoundly shocked and there was universal sadness.

Frank C. Mondrik was born in Fayette county on August 16, 1876, the son of Joseph and Cecelia Mondrik. With his parents he came to Cameron at the age of 7 years and here grew to manhood. This period of his life covered 42 years and they were busy years for early he turned his attention to business and for more than 30 years has been a leading factor in the commercial life of the city, being associated with his brother the late Joe Mondrik in the business. Joe Mondrik died on September 17, 1922.

It was said of Frank C. Mondrik that he had no enemies. He was a

NEGRO FARMERS FOR CROP DIVERSIFICATION

26 SIGN UP FOR COTTON CONTEST AND 30 FOR 10-YEAR CROP ROTATION

Negro farmers of Milam County under the leadership of the county agent among them, John H. Williams, have become interested in the Dallas News more cotton on fewer acres contest and it was reported at the Monday night meeting of the Commercial Club that 26 had been signed up for the contest this year. Each will set aside five acres to enter the contest.

In addition to this interest in the cotton contest 30 negro farmers have signed up for a ten year crop rotation program. During the drouth this year, it is said that land on which crops had been rotated produced better than land not given over to rotation.

The work of the county agent among the negro farmers is being encouraged by the Commercial Club and the success he is meeting is a source of gratification to the business men.

Recently at Marshall a negro farmer had gathered eleven bales of cotton from nine acres, having entered the cotton contest and by mapo cultivation was enabled to increase this production to this extent.

In some cases it is said that farmers entering the contests have cultivated

THE AMERICAN YOUNG MAN.

Secretary Wilbur of the navy recently remarked that he was proud of the fine appearance made by the men of this service at the time of the trip of the fleet to Australia. He said that glowing reports were received of the good conduct of the sailors and marines.

Similar remarks have been made many times in regard to the conduct of navy men when they appeared in foreign ports. The men of the United States army on the whole made a very favorable impression in Europe during the war. Of course that force was so great and so hastily assembled, that there was no time for careful training in what might be called the conduct expected of a gentleman. That force had very big tasks on hand, and some matters of conduct had to be considered secondary.

The favorable impressions referred to above, demonstrate the possibilities of American young manhood. They raise the question whether such inspiring influences could not be brought to bear on all young men, that most of them at least would feel all the time the desirability of showing in their home environments the self restraint and high standards which may be developed when young men are given special training.

Every young man ought to be taught to feel a certain pride in his position as an American. He should be shown that this calls on him for a certain fineness and dignity, so that he will hate to lower himself by those actions that are not worthy of the position that is his.

Here is a line of thought that might be recommended to teachers and ministers and those having special contacts with young men. There are millions of them who take naturally to such standards without urging. The time will no doubt come when most American young men will acquire this feeling of pride in their citizenship that will keep them from doing unworthy things.

MR. MARSHALL'S PHILOSOPHY.

Many people who do not ordinarily read books or works of the nature of autobiography, are spending some of their busy moments in perusing the memories of Thomas R. Marshall, vice-president under the Wilson administration. While this work of recollection reveals that the former vice president had very considerable literary skill, yet perhaps the most winsome thing about this story is the general human nature there revealed.

In these times the world is being treated to a flood of protest and dissatisfaction. We are told that business is selfish, that politics is hopelessly corrupt, that philanthropy is largely futile. In short, that the boasted progress of our enlightened age is largely a sham, and that we must rebuild the institutions of society throughout.

This point of view raises the question whether our modern prophets can be so very much wiser than former generations. The institutions of society arise because as a result of experience people find that certain arrangements work for the general good. All this experience can not be so valueless as many people think.

Mr. Marshall's philosophy comes as a kind of relief in the midst of this chorus of protest. He has his own notions of better government and society, and he would never have asserted that society does not need change. But he did have some confidence in the basic American ideas.

Some people seem always to be looking for the worst side of human nature. They see the hard and grasping aspects of personality. Mr. Marshall had more faith in people, and a generous belief that the great majority of them are trying to do what is right if they can only be shown how.

THE TEACHER'S INFLUENCE.

One of the most interesting things in human experience is the way the personality of young people is often changed by the influence of some teacher under whom they come. Such a one is the famous college professor who may be so all weight of his genius into the task of arousing sluggish minded youth.

Or such a teacher may be some obscure personage in some quiet school room, unknown beyond the home town, who has a gift for waking up the mentality of youth. Many people of great power and influence can look back to some teacher of this type, who first aroused their ambitions.

The indifferent youth comes under the influence of such a teacher, and gradually there is communicated to him a different conception of the world and his part in it. Somehow his work begins to seem interesting. Where formerly it had been a dull task, somehow the teacher has been able to stir him up to master it, and to feel a desire to demonstrate his powers and fit himself for service in the world, by getting those lessons and gaining the benefits they were meant to confer.

Some teachers and professors may be very learned and very accurate and methodical, but they lack the gift of making their pupils want to learn. When students come in contact with a more inspiring personality, they are able to see that up to now their thought has been concentrated on aims and purposes that will bring them no satisfactory rewards.

Thus these young people discover new powers and possibilities in themselves. The door of larger hopes opens before them. The service given by such a teacher is priceless, and the community should render it very high honors and also substantial money rewards.

FAVORABLE TOWN LOCATIONS.

There are some towns located in scenes of great natural beauty, which are ugly and unattractive. Nature gave them every physical advantage, but they refuse to make use of it.

And there are towns located on bare and sandy plains, where nature has given them practically nothing, but which today are choice examples of the finest civic beauty and home like charm.

The development which a town gains, depends more upon the spirit of the people, than upon favorable locations or anything that came to them without effort. A town which has no special business advantages, may yet develop into a commercial center through the energy of its people in giving service. This suggests that considering the many natural advantages possessed here in Cameron, it is our own fault if we do not make fine progress.

MAKING SCHOOLS ATTRACTIVE.

There are many ways of influencing school pupils to do better work. If their school building is a plain and somewhat ugly affair, perhaps a little shabby, children are going to approach it with a certain repulsion. It seems too much like a dreary workshop to them.

But if you take that school building, give it paint inside and out if it needs it, plant shrubs and trees around it, so that it gives an impression of charm, those pupils will respond. The way they pick flowers when they go out into the country shows that they appreciate beauty. A school thus beautified elicits their pride, it incites them to learn lessons of order and neatness, and they feel like making some response by better work.

DESECRATION.

An Associated Press dispatch from Scranton, Pa., states that thirty persons were made defendants in criminal information issued in the federal court of that city, charged with wilful defacing of certain monuments of the National Military Park at Gettysburg, Pa. This is indeed unfortunate and may not be excused on the grounds that the souvenir hunters were actuated by an uncontrollable outburst of patriotic zeal which assumed expression in the desire to possess themselves of tangible evidence to show that they had visited the famous battlefield.

Souvenir hunters have existed always. Some of them restrict their operations to the purloining of petty articles such as a Pullman car napkin or spoon. Others have appropriated the Gideon Bibles reposing in their hotel rooms and this larceny is doubly significant. However, these are cases of such nature that no material damage is done in that the missing article can be readily replaced, even though the Pullman Company figure a distinct loss of profits at the end of the business year. When, however, a misguided patriot permits himself to be so overcome with emotion, while standing on the historic field of Gettysburg, that nothing short of a piece of stone from one of the memorial shafts will appease his ardor, it is time for the federal authorities to step in and gently but firmly show him the error of his ways.

Our country possesses many sacred shrines marking valor and heroism, and the average American is filled with a sense of awe and reverence as he surveys the field upon which gallant Americans offered up their lives, or stands before a beautiful marble shaft commemorating the noble deeds of his country's martyred sons. And thus it should be. The desire to obtain a piece of concrete evidence of American valor is far from being a proof of loyalty and devotion. It is nothing less than theft, even though the average souvenir hunter may not realize that he is a potential lawbreaker.

It seems almost a reproach to our citizens that it becomes necessary to place armed guards about the buildings and parks in which repose the revered relics won or sustained in the smoke of battle. But such is the case and imperatively so. It matters not whether the American patriot in his pilgrimage to the shrines of his country visits Boston, Gettysburg or Richmond, whether he be from the north or the south as both sections of our United States have many evidences of American bravery and soldierly valor. Let us trust that the day will come and speedily, when the throngs of patriotic pilgrims who visit our historic landmarks will by their own lawful conduct obviate the necessity of having special police officers and iron bars to guard America's sacred relics from wilful desecration.

friend to all and in his business career held the friendship of all who came in contact with him. He accommodated many, extending favors and was lavish with his charity. His place cannot be supplied and there is none to take his place.

In his business career he acquired much of this world's goods but gave much back. He was not given to boasting but was deep in his convictions and was silent about his good deeds of which there were many.

At one time he was a member of the Cameron Fire Department and also a member of the City Council, serving as alderman. Recently he was appointed a member of the Cameron School Board.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, being postponed on account of the excessive rainfall on Tuesday. The funeral was directed by the Price & Oehl funeral home.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Mondrik and four children, two boys and two girls, Franklin and Alvin Mondrik and Lilian and Ethel Mondrik; Mrs. Mack Matocha, sister of Willemena, Oregon; Mrs. A. J. Matocha, Cameron, sister; Mrs. Dr. W. R. He was a member of the Sons of Herman and the S. P. J. S. T., a Bohemian insurance order.

The active pall bearers were as follows: J. B. White, Dan Tyson, A. F. Mitchell, Judd G. Davis, E. J. Sebesta, F. S. Lesovsky, Trent Newton, A. J. Sustek.

Honorary pall bearers were: W. G. Gillis, C. Floyd, Chas. Walzel, C. V. Huffman, Joe Ondrej, E. O. Schiller, John Zalesky, J. C. Joseph, L. L. Blaylock, H. M. Hefley, J. L. Clinton, Robert McLane, John E. Mangum, Giles L. Avriett, Roy Law, F. A. Marek, Antone Stecher, Wm. Henderson, B. P. Atkinson, E. A. Wallace, E. A. Smith, J. K. Freeman, E. Voglesang, R. L. Batte, B. P. Matocha, A. N. Green, Andy Smith, Dr. A. S. Epperson, H. C. Beck San Antonio and V. A. Kubecka.

The body in a mauve gray steel casket lay in the home from noon Monday until 3 p. m. Wednesday, the funeral hour. Hundreds of people during the two days passed by the casket to look upon the remains. Banked with flowers sent by many from all sections of the county and circle of his acquaintance and friendship, the room in which the body lay at the home presented a scene of rare beauty and a tribute to one held in high esteem by the thousands who knew him in life.

The funeral services were held beginning at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. R. S. Marshall of the First Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. J. P. Love of the Episcopal church, conducted the services. A choir of selected voices sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Outside the home hundreds stood in silent grief as the prayers of the ministers brought to a close the impressive service. Many filed through the home and passed by the casket after the service. Among those who made up the large concourse of mourners were members of the Slavonic Protective Society of Texas, an insurance order in which deceased had been a long and active member. There were also a number of fellow members from the Sons of Herman.

The procession winding slowly from the beautiful home in West Cameron formed a line more than a mile in length. At the cemetery more than a thousand people stood about the grave in a last tribute to him who had been a friend, counselor and inspiration.

Rev. R. S. Marshall after the pall bearers had lowered the body to the steel vault conducted the commitment service, a beautiful but brief ceremony. Flowers banked the graveside and spread about in array of beauty.

Following the commitment service Judge W. G. Gillis in a short eulogy paid tribute to the deceased. The address of Judge Gillis was an eloquent summary of life and character of the departed.

The speaker reviewed his life, telling of the large place of usefulness as a citizen he had occupied for 30 years, a period in which he wrought as a business man and a leader. Frank C. Mondrik was a man in every way, meeting as the speaker said, the poetic eulogy of Browning. He was courageous, honest and upright among his fellowmen. He possessed the spirit of charity to a degree that endeared him to the poor and needy to whom he never refused aid. He was consistently fair, honest and liberal in all his business and well as civic relationships. His life was gentle and to him honor was cardinal. He lived life in its fullness, taking the bitter as well as sweet and thus it moulded for him the greater destiny.

As Judge Gillis concluded his eulogy Rev. Marshall said the closing prayer of the service. The sunlit story of the day had been told and there gathered silence. Hundreds stood in the fading light of late afternoon in unison of grief, moved by the fadeless memory of one who has thus lived, moistening with tears the prayer uttered for the thought of that day when the pilgrimage ends and the head, weary with the strife is at last pillowed for the long sleep of the ages and the Resurrection.

Death is the Crown of Life:

Were death denied, poor man would live in vain.

Death wounds to cure; we fall, we rise, we reign;

Spring from our fetters, fasten to the skies,

Where blooming Eden withers from our sight.

This King of terrors is the Prince of Peace.

ACHING LIMBS

And Many Other Common Ills Relieved by Black-Draught.

Mrs. John Skaggs, residing near Lanes Prairie, Mo., on the Ozark Trail, says: "I have taken Black-Draught for a number of years, about fifteen, and it is about the only purgative medicine I ever take. It is the only kind that I've found that doesn't hurt me. "I take Black-Draught for indigestion, for colds and headaches. I take it for aching in my limbs and shoulders. It helps this trouble. I take it for sour stomach. "We think Black-Draught is splendid and never are without it in the house. "I suffered with gas on my stomach that affected my breathing, and Black-Draught helped this trouble. "For such common complaints, I think Black-Draught is the best medicine a person can use. "For millions of others, Black-Draught is their favorite liver and stomach medicine. Obtainable everywhere. C-313

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean. A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

CLASS OF NURSES.

The graduation of the nurses Misses Matilda Gurecky, Olita Jackson and Almera Dunn, at the Cameron Hospital on last Thursday evening was marked by a splendid program to which talented local friends contributed as outlined in last week's Herald. The presentation of flowers and gifts to the graduates lent a pleasing feature to the occasion. Diplomas to these excellent young nurses were worthily bestowed by this splendid institution.

MUSIC CLUB.

The initial meeting of the Cameron Symphony Club met with Mrs. F. J. Beckerman on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. A. N. Green presiding over the meeting which was given over to business. ## HINTON-BURKE.

Monday morning Miss Edna Estelle Burke and Mr. Harry Hinton were married in Belton. The news was telephoned to their friends here and much interest has been expressed by their intimate friends, who wish for the happy young couple a happy voyage over the sea of life. A letter from the bride to her family contains the news that they will take an extensive motor trip through West Texas and later return to make their home in Cameron. The groom, Mr. Hinton, has until recently been with the Aviation Garage and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burke, whose amiable disposition and pleasing personality have won for her a wide circle of friends.

MRS. CABLE ENTERTAINS.

Halloween symbols and favors festooned from the lighted electroliers to windows and placed in places of vantage in her beautiful new home made Mrs. Fred Cable's parties of Friday and Saturday afternoon's most enjoyable reminders to her friends that the gay season of myst and mirth that attends Halloween is here again. A bright fire on the hearth lent radiance to the household charm. Carnival caps were given to each upon arrival and the game tables were outfitted with accessories in keeping with the chosen idea of decoration. Two charming sisters of the hostess, Mesdames K. G. Taef of Waco and Frank Criddle of Rosebud were guests of honor. When the games were over, they assisted the hostess in serving a two-course luncheon on bamboo trays which fitted in with the attractive decorative scheme featuring the Halloween motif in ways surprising and clever. Corsages of yellow cosmos with bows of yellow mallow formed the tray centers. At the close of the first afternoon's series, the trophy for high score, a bowl of growing narcissus, was awarded to Mrs. Alex Triggs, and a maline tied bottle of bath salts was given to Mrs. R. J. Long for low score. On the second afternoon Mrs. A. N. Green received a mint basket for high score, and Mrs. Jewel Barmore, a call bell for low score.

The Cameron Branch of the Young People's Service League of the Episcopal church, recently organized, looks forward to a future of helpfulness wherever Christian service of young people may be needed.

The first work presented for their consideration, outside our own community, was that of Seamen's Institute in Houston, where wholesome lodgings and recreation are provided for men in port.

Under the leadership of Miss Martha Lou Hooks as president, and Mrs. Etta Ringgold as Counsellor, this interested group of workers should accomplish much in the cause of Christ.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church has devoted the early fall meetings to current church events, and discussion of the program of the General Convention of this church, now going on in New Orleans, with discussion, too, of special features of the tri-ennial meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, being held at the same time and place at next week's meeting, with Mrs. Love. Mrs. R. P. Jeter will lead a discussion of the first chapter of a new publication, entitled "The World and I."

Robert Bruce Turner Aged Pioneer, Dead at Age of 88 Years

ROBERT BRUCE TURNER.

"Four things a man must learn to do if he would make his record true; To think without confusion clearly To love his fellowmen sincerely To act from honest motive purely To trust in God and heaven sincerely"

All these things marked the life of one of Cameron's old citizens, Robert Bruce Turner, well known as "Dad" Turner, who passed peacefully away Tuesday night at his little home in East Cameron at the age of eighty-eight. He had been confined to his bed for three months and had borne his sufferings with heroic patience.

In his home his blind daughter, Miss Rachel Turner, his housekeeper since his wife's death in 1888, is left to mourn.

He is survived by three sons, Robt. E. Lee Turner of Cameron, Shade Turner of Buckholts, and James Reynolds Turner of Glasgow, Kentucky and three daughters, Mrs. John Crawford and Miss Rachel Turner of Cameron, and Mrs. J. E. Todd of Cameron route 2, thirty-four grand children, thirty-eight great grand children, and five great, great grand children. His funeral was conducted from the home on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the First Methodist church, Price & Oehl directing the funeral.

Many friends were present at the funeral service and beautiful flowers covered his mound in the Old Cemetery.

COUNTY OFFICIALS IN TOUR OF WEST TEXAS

Swisher county to Amarillo where the convention was held.

They saw the famous Goodnight ranch, widely known for its buffalo herds. Col. Goodnight in his young days was a citizen of Milam county. The Goodnight family is related to Mrs. Luther Roberts of Cameron. Col. Goodnight who as a pioneer helped to settle the west and rode the plains country on horseback now has a radio set and went to Amarillo in his limousine. Amarillo is a city of some 25,000 people and the metropolis of West Texas. The fair was in progress while the convention was in session.

The convention passed a resolution opposing the contract system in handling highway funds and also a resolution favoring restoring highway maintenance to the commissioner's courts.

Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the House of Representatives, delivered an address before the convention. Mr. Satterwhite was very courteous to the Milam county delegates. The party returned to Cameron through Wichita Falls and the eastern route, reaching home on Sunday night.

SMALL CROWD ATTENDS KLAN MEETING HERE

CLASS INITIATED IN FLICKERING LIGHT OF FIREFY CROSS —FEW SPECTATORS.

The widely advertised Klan meeting in base ball park on last Thursday night, was disappointing in the number of people attending, only about one thousand people going to the grounds for the ceremony.

A class said to number 24 candidates was initiated by a Temple Degree team. Each candidate was dressed in blue trousers and white shirt but their features could not be distinguished under the pale light of the cross and a few lights hung about the field.

Someone sang a solo and a Baptist preacher from San Antonio delivered an address. Owing to the policy of the Klan in refusing to furnish information to newspapers that oppose them, the name of the Klan preacher could not be learned.

The celebration was joined in by the Rockdale and Gause Klans, it was said. No robes were in evidence and no masks were worn.

The Klan in Cameron now has no uptown meeting place, but it is understood that plans were being projected at one time to build a building in Cameron. The building formerly occupied by the Klan is now leased by the Knights of Columbus.

I'D RATHER LIVE IN TEXAS.

"Jamie" Heron.

I'd rather live in Texas than in any other land,
There is no fairer spot on earth so favored by God's hand,
'Twas there I learned that God is good from Nature's open book
And love is everywhere, in everything if we but look;
I love the soil, I love the air, I love the mellow breeze,
I love the busy droning of the bees among the trees,
I love the brilliant sunshine and its animating rays,
The eerie moonlight in the night calls forth the lover's praise.
And how I love the rolling hills, the valleys and the plains;
The spacious fields of cotton and the lighter colored grains
Combine to make a picture for a hungry heart to lave,
But best of all I love the people, noble, free and brave;
Their sincere "Howdy friend, my name is 'So and So,' and yours?"
It puts you on good terms at once, their greeting sure allures;
And they never say "Goodbye" in Texas when you depart,
It's So Long! and Hurry Back! it flows right from the heart;
I've found that life is sweeter when folks try to understand;
That's why I'd rather live in Texas than in any other land.

CLARK-BORRONN.

The marriage of Mr. Dick Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Clark of Cameron, to Miss Margaret Borronn of Kennedy, Texas, occurred Saturday morning September 25, 1925, in the parlors of the Baptist Parsonage of Kennedy at ten o'clock a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark left shortly after the ceremony for Corpus Christi and later went to Edenburg, Texas to live where Mr. Clark has lucrative business connections.

The Kennedy paper describes the bride as pretty, popular and possessed of many adorable qualities. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Borronn and graduated from Kennedy High school with the class of 1925.

Cameron friends wish for Mr. and Mrs. Clark a life-time of unalloyed happiness.

BARMORE-KLATT.

A simple and beautiful wedding ceremony on Saturday at one o'clock p. m. united in marriage Mr. W. Cecil Barmore and Miss Selma Marie Klatt at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Guggolz on Houston Avenue. Pink queen's wreath lent floral charm to the reception rooms where the vows were read by Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the Cameron Methodist church. The bride wore a brown satin meteor trimmed in skin and gold, with shoes and accessories in harmony.

Shortly after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Barmore left on the North bound Santa Fe for Electra, where they will remain for some time.

The bride's going away gown was a black and green ensemble suit with harmonizing accessories. Guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Barmore, Mr. Gaston Barmore, Misses Earl Bragg, Minnie Nell and Gladys Blaylock, Mrs. L. L. Blaylock and the bride's brother, Dr. Emil Klatt of the Medical School at Galveston.

HENRICHSEN-KRAUSE.

The marriage of Miss William Krause, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Krause of Burlington to Mr. Walter A. Henrichsen of Cameron, took place on Wednesday Oct. 7th, at 8 o'clock a. m. in St. Michael's church at Burlington with nuptial mass, Rev. Father Rops officiating.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Beulah Geistman of Temple Texas. Mr. Felix Krause of St. Edward's University of Austin attended the groom.

Only a few intimate friends and members of the two families were present.

The home was charmingly decorated with white carnations and foliage.

The bridesmaid wore beige satin back crepe with a corsage of sweet-heart buds.

The bride looked lovely in a handsome claire model of Royal blue crepe roma, she wore a smart small hat of metal cloth, and black satin, hand painted pumps to harmonize, and as a bridal touch carried a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums and ferns.

After breakfast, ices frozen as wedding bells, and the bride's cake were served.

The young couple left for a trip to southern points and will be at home in Cameron on their return.

Club Votes to Close Store on Armistice Day in Cameron.

The Commercial Club on Monday night voted in favor of the business houses closing on Armistice day. There was some opposition because it was pointed out that some would close while others would remain open.

An effort to close the town will be made both by the Commercial Club and Retail Merchants Association.

The American Legion will stage their celebration on that date and will entertain the ex-service men of Milam county. The Armistice celebration is an usual event in Cameron.

W. B. Levy Resumes Handling of Men's and Boys Wear.

W. B. Levy, although announcing some time ago that he would discontinue handling of Mens and Boys clothing, has decided to continue the handling of these goods and in the last issue of the Cameron papers announced his intention.

This announcement will meet with approval from the public as well as patrons of this store. Mr. Levy has recently received a large consignment of goods for men and boys.

Mr. Levy believes in keeping his stock up to date and handles nothing but the latest in quality merchandise.

SWEET POTATOES ARE EASY TO STORE AWAY

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN HOW TO CURE THEM IN THE FALL.

By Austin E. Burges.

If sweet potatoes were handled with the same care and intelligence as apples little difficulty would be experienced in keeping them in storage. Says one authority, Suchcare is perhaps too much to ask of sweet potatoes growers in view of the lesser value of potatoes, yet these succulent tubers are even more easily bruised than apples. It is only by care in handling that the heavy losses which owners usually suffer on potatoes in storage can be reduced.

This care should begin at harvest time. First of all, the yams should not be dug until they are mature. If dug when green they will decay in much large numbers. To determine when a sweet potato crop is mature dig out several tubers and then snap them in half. If the surface dries quickly the potato is mature; if juice oozes out and the exposed surface is slow in drying the potato is not mature.

The crop should be harvested as late before the first frost as possible. If a light frost comes unexpectedly no harm will be done the tubers if the vines are sliced off at the stems the following day. A dry day should be selected for the digging of the potatoes and no more potatoes should be uprooted than can be gathered before the close of the day.

Drying.

Permit them to dry before putting them in baskets. A mild sun is good for this purpose but a brilliant sun will soon harm the crop. If the sunlight is too hot, quickly get the tubers into the shade. A special effort should be made to avoid digging potatoes in muddy weather.

The crop may be dug simply with a middle buster or a turning plow but either implement without coulters running before to cut the vines will frequently get tangled up in the vines. A good potato digger made for the purpose will be found more satisfactory. Another method is to run a light disk harrow over in advance of the plow to chop up the vines.

As the tubers are plowed out workers should follow to find them to throw them out of the soft earth in plain view. When they have dried on the surface other workers should follow with crates or hampers, picking them up according to grade and placing them directly into the containers in which they are to pass the winter. Let some of the workers gather No. 1s others No. 2s and still others the jumbo the cut potatoes and seed potatoes. Such a method saves labor and reduces to a minimum the damage received by the potatoes.

Whether the potatoes are put directly into their containers or not they should be hauled to their place of storage in a spring wagon or in a wagon which has a heavy layer of straw in the bed. The smoothest route to the highway should be chosen and the uncured potatoes should not be unduly jolted. It is the breaking of the skin on potatoes which permits the entry of diseases in the storage house. Badly skinned potatoes are not in demand on the market, even though they have gotten through the winter without being attacked by disease.

Avoid Black Rot.

By far the most destructive of the diseases of sweet potatoes in storage is black rot. This is also a disease in potatoes in the hotbeds. It is likely that the infection is carried from the bed to the storage house but the points of infection are too small to be seen.

Under favorable conditions in the storage house these spots enlarge and by the end of thirty or sixty days have formed conspicuous sunken spots on the surface of the potato. In the center of these spots are numerous flask shaped fruiting bodies bearing spores. These spores adhere to the bodies of insects on the hands of persons moving the potatoes and thus get carried to other potatoes.

The second most important of the storage diseases is soft rot. In this disease the infection begins at one end of the potato and spreads rapidly to the other end, under favorable conditions takes only a few days to destroy the whole potato. The potatoes are first rendered soft, watery and stringy. When the disease has run its course the potatoes gradually become hard and brittle.

A modification of the soft rot is ring rot. This disease grows a ring about the tuber spreading toward the ends. As both this disease and soft rot are caused by the common bread mold, the spores of which are everywhere, it can be controlled only by making conditions unfavorable for its growth.

There are several storage diseases other than these named, but the same methods must be used against all of them. In addition in making every effort to keep the skin of the potatoes unbroken the temperature and humidity must be controlled to prevent the spread of diseases on potatoes in storage.

Storage Plans.

For small quantities of potatoes various simple plans are workable but for larger quantities storage house is necessary. Detailed instructions for construction of such houses may be had free on application to the extension service of the A. and M. College.

Where such houses already exist they should be thoroughly swept in advance of the potato storage season each year and then sprayed with a solution of copper sulphate, called also blue stone and blue vitrol. The proper way to make up this solution is to suspend five pounds of the copper sulphate over night in a barrel of water, then dilute the solution to fifty gallons. Only wooden containers should be used, as the chemical will corrode metal. It is also poisonous if taken internally. After the storage house has dried out it is ready for the potatoes.

Store them in their original containers and when the house is full bring the temperature up to 75 degrees and maintain it between that point and 80 degrees until the potatoes have cured, which will usually be from ten to eighteen days. When the skin will no longer slip on the potatoes they may be considered cured. It is necessary, also, to keep the air rather dry. Dryness is measured by an instrument called a hydrometer. To this end artificial ventilation and heat must be used. When the yams have been cured the temperature should be dropped to 55 degrees and kept at that.

When it is desired to ship the potatoes they must be taken out of their original containers and sorted, diseased ones being discarded. So prepared, they will bring the best market price.

The consuming public is rather exacting as to the quality of the food it buys. The best grades of potatoes bring the best prices and the poorest grades can scarcely be sold at all. It is therefore to the interest of the potato growers to see that their product is handled carefully and intelligently. When this is generally done sweet potatoes will become a common article of diet in the Northern states where now they are little eaten.

Chevrolet Motor Co. Builds 55,865 Cars in 1 month.

Detroit Michigan, Oct. 13.—The Chevrolet Motor company built 55,865 motor cars and trucks during September, a new record for that month and only 378 fewer than the highest production month in the history of the company.

Ordinarily sales and consequently production are expected to decrease during the latter part of the year. However, the demand for Chevrolet cars which has held production at high figures throughout the year continues undiminished. As a result the schedule for the present month contemplates the building of more than 54,500 cars and trucks.

August deliveries to dealers in the United States alone were 41,500, an August record. This figure is exclusive of the thousands of cars shipped to foreign countries. During September deliveries in the United States increased to approximately 44,500, placing September second only to April and May of this year and exceeding the domestic deliveries for June, July and August respectively.

"I am proud of these records for two reasons," said Charles F. Barth, Vice President in charge of production:

"My first reason is that since March the Chevrolet production has remained consistently at 50,000 or more without the usual seasonal fluctuations. This indicates that the stabilized upon a regular year-round demand.

"My second reason is that the September production proved conclusively the loyalty and capacity of the Chevrolet manufacturing organization. Unceasing demand for cars from the Chevrolet dealers made it necessary early in September to increase the September production schedule nearly 7,000, the new schedule calling for 53,165 cars and trucks. A production increase of that magnitude is a severe test of any manufacturing organization. The sales department would have desired us to increase the production schedule even more sharply. The results exceeded our highest expectations. The loyal workers in the Chevrolet factories, most of them veterans who are proud of their jobs and proud of their product, responded to a man. They came through with the record September production of 55,865 which was 2,700 more cars than we had asked for even under the revised schedule."

Poll Show Solons Against Cost for Cow Disease Fight.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 8.—A great majority of the 120 members of the Legislature who have answered Governor Ferguson's query as to whether they would vote for an appropriation of $400,000 at the next regular session to pay debts incurred by the fighting the hoof and mouth disease in Harris and Galveston counties are against the appropriation according to a statement Monday by J. E. Ferguson.

It developed Monday that Travis county's representative, John T. Smith and Felix Raymer, have not received the Governor's query, but it was asserted at the Governor's office that communications were to be sent to them at once, containing the same substance as the telegrams which have gone to the other 179 members of the Legislature. The query was also sent to the Lieutenant Governor, as well as the speaker of the House.

In these telegrams the statement was made that all the available money had been appropriated and that the Legislature had no authority to make further appropriations for the present year.

Representative Raymer stated that he would make negative reply when the Governor's communication is received by him. Representative Smith indicated that he would make a similar response, declaring that the messages contained in press reports as having been dispatched to other members was not in accordance with the constitution and created an erroneous impression.

COUNTY AGENTS ANXIOUS TO BE OF REAL SERVICE.

Mrs. Etta Ringgold, county demonstrator in home economics, and Mr. Geo. Banzhaf, county farm demonstrator were here Wednesday making short visits to the various communities in this end of the county with a view of interesting the public in the importance of culling their chickens before carrying their broods over into the new year. Mr. Banzhaf says his efforts to organize Boys Corn Clubs and Pig Clubs have suffered defeat by the prolonged drouth but that he is more than willing to operate any way he can with any community looking to a better year next year. They visited San Gabriel Tuesday and Thorndale, Conoley and Salty on Wednesday. Mrs. Ringgold is very much interested in the importance of culling the "drones" from the chickens and invites anyone who will make an effort to have a number of their neighbors present for the demonstration to ask for a demonstration.—Rockdale Reporter.

NEW POULTRY FARM WITH 300 LEGHORNS, SIPE COMMUNITY

The Reporter enjoyed a short call one day recently from Z. T. Lindsay, who has recently returned from a year in the wild and windy West, and who is once more "at home" on his 40 acres in the Sipe Springs community. Mr. Lindsay is interested in the Reporter's poultry promotion campaign, and is showing that interest by fitting up his little farm for a regular poultry farm. He is starting off with 300 White Leghorn hens and pullets and he is erecting a suitable house for them to live in. Mr. Lindsay says he absorbed some good poultry information while out in San Saba county, and visited some of the up-to-date poultry farms in McCulloch county. He expects to proceed on a similar basis and hopes to make a success and show how forty acres of sandy land in Matchless Milam can be made to return a good living.—Rockdale Reporter.

THORNDALE CITIZEN DIED AT TEMPLE.

Mr. O. E. Moseley died at the Temple Sanitarium Friday morning of last week following an illness of some time during which he visited specialists at San Antonio and received only temporary relief. The immediate cause of his death was heart trouble and complications. He had only been at Temple about two weeks when he died, and but little hope of his recovery was expressed by hospital physicians after they had diagnosed the case when he entered the hospital for treatment.

Mr. Moseley was born in the community near Nile on Nov. 27, 1886 and died Oct. 2, 1925. He was in age at the prime of life and possessed a physical body which challenged any suggestion of ill health to those who had not personal acquaintance with him. He leaves a wife, an aged father and mother, four sisters and three brothers. The brothers are: Elwin Moseley, Thorndale; Branch Moseley, a railroad engineer living in West Texas; Lynn Moseley, Cisco; and D. Moseley near Thorndale. The sisters: Mrs. Jack Clement, Thorndale; Mrs.

Kentucky Lady Got Well After Taking Cardui.

"I got down in health—suffering from womanly troubles which caused me much pain and worry," says Mrs. Rhoda Canary, of R. F. D. 6, Owensboro, Ky. "My stepmother had taken Cardui when she was in my same condition, so I got to inquiring around among my friends about it and found several women who were taking it at that time. 'They all told me how good it was, so I told my husband to get me a bottle to try. That night he came home with a bottle of Cardui. 'I had a... which left me in a very serious condition. I had been in bed eight weeks and was unable to move in bed without help. 'By the time I had taken half a bottle (of Cardui), my strength began to come back. I could sit up in bed. 'I finished up that bottle and by that time I was able to walk across the floor. I continued taking Cardui for several months and I got well.' At all drug stores. C-31

The body was brought to Thorndale from Temple by the A. J. Urban & Sons Motor Hearse. The funeral was held at the Thorndale Cemetery Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. G. C. Lewis conducting the service. Interment in Thorndale cemetery. The service was largely attended and the floral offerings were expressive of great esteem in which Mr. Moseley was held by his friends in this community.—Thorndale Champion.

Hon. Jeff T. Kemp, county judge, was here from Cameron on business Tuesday and made the Reporter a short call. Judge Kemp's brother is the man who has been making it so hot for the highway commission recently. Judge Kemp attended the convention of county judges and commissioners at Amarillo recently, making the trip through in his car. He reports the Panhandle looking wonderfully fine and prosperous.—Rockdale Reporter.

The Reporter learns with regret that former County Commissioner Henry Reeves, of Ben Arnold, is quite seriously ill with inflammatory rheumatism in the Cameron Hospital. Mr. Reeves made the county one of best officers it ever had, and his work as Highway Supervisor under the State Highway Commission was particularly praiseworthy. His many friends in this part of the county will join us in the hope that he may soon be restored to good health.—Rockdale Reporter.

MCQUIGG IS NAMED COMMANDER LEGION

CLEVELAND MAN TO HEAD EX-SOLDIERS FOR NEXT TERM.

OHAMA, Oct. 9.—John R. McQuigg of East Cleveland, Ohio, was elected national commander of the American Legion on the first ballot at the Legion's final session of their seventh annual convention Friday.

The election was decided with the votes of 13 delegations still to be recorded. It was a landslide, and upon motion of Howard Savage, Illinois, defeated candidate, and Edward Spafford, New York, another losing candidate, was made unanimous.

The Rev. William Patrick of California was elected national chaplain, over the Rev. Joseph Barnett of Red Wing, Minn., who fought through the war as an enlisted man.

Mrs. Elisa London Shepherd of San Francisco was elected national president of the women's auxiliary. She defeated Mrs. Ruth McCurry Brown of Little Rock.

Commander McQuigg has had an extensive career as a soldier and officer, serving in the Spanish-American War, on the Mexican border, and in the World War. He is 59 years old.

He began his military career with entrance to Wooster College as a cadet and in the Spanish-American War served with the famous Cleveland Grays and the first Ohio Engineers, winning to the ranks of captain and major. In the Mexican border trouble, he served as colonel in the provisional regiment of engineers.

In the World War Commander McQuigg mobilized the 112th engineers. He served in the Baccaret sector and was wounded while in the Argonne. He was appointed brigadier general of the Ohio National Guard and was placed in the command of the 73d infantry brigadier in the 37th division. With retirement to civilian life Commander McQuigg became identified with American Legion work. He was elected commander of the Ohio department, serving from 1920 to 1921. He also served as a member of the Fredrick W. Galbraith Jr. memorial committee, and of the legislative finance committee.

In private life Commander McQuigg is an attorney and banker.

After presentation to the convention by retiring Commander James A. Drain, Mr. McQuigg pledged himself to the completion of these Legion tasks:

Rehabilitation, child welfare and increased membership, glancing at a sheet of note paper as he talked.

The department of Minnesota team won first in the rifle shot. In the post team shot first honors went to Neeah, Wisconsin.

A hard fight developed on the resolution proposing elimination of future conventions to three days, but it was tabled. Proponents pleaded that there has been too much speed making and too much scandalous conduct on Omaha's streets, for which the Legion could not disclaim entire responsibility.

Joseph Shoney of Florida, Raymond B. Littlefield of Rock Island, Hughes

B. Davis of Oklahoma, Vincent A. Carroll of Pennsylvania, and James A. Howell of Utah were elected national vice commanders.

The seventh annual convention adjourned at 1:53 p. m. to meet next year in Philadelphia.

WEST TEXAS CITY IN FOR POULTRY RAISING

"CAR OF EGGS A DAY" SLOGAN
OF BRADY IN INTELLIGENT
FARM DEVELOPMENT.

(Rockdale Reporter.)

That the Reporter's slogan "100 hens on every farm will bring prosperity to Matchless Milam" is not an overdrawn statement is indicated by the facts carried in the following issue of the Houston Chronicle, to the editor of which paper the Reporter is indebted for the use of the article and accompanying illustration.

What Brady can do Rockdale can do. When Rockdale farmers fully realize the importance of the hen then will prosperity really begin. This is a natural chicken country. All the elements of success are here except the willingness to make a start. Read about what Brady is doing:

Four Farms in One Year.

Poultry and egg-production are proving profitable in Brady and McCulloch County.

Four poultry farms, one last year and three during the last few months, have been established on the outskirts of Brady. Three of these are privately owned, one a $100,000 demonstration farm, is sponsored by the Brady Chamber of Commerce. The Mayhew Laymore farm was moved here from Eden last winter.

The fact that there are only 634 old hens, but about 6000 pullets which are just beginning to lay, on these four farms is evidence that the poultry industry in this county is progressing in rapid strides. Each of these four chicken raisers has avowed his intention of doubling the number in 1926.

The Brady Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Secretary W. D. Cargill, who is responsible for putting the poultry movement on foot, carried on an infertile campaign over the entire county last spring, and is at present planning another county-wide educational campaign in which farmers are to be encouraged to increase and improve their flocks and settle down to one type of high-grade egg-producing chickens. The goal has been set for shipping one or more carloads of fresh, infertile eggs from Brady every day.

"If properly done, the production of poultry and eggs will net a farmer as much money as he is now realizing from his cotton crop. It will assure him a permanent daily income and eliminate forever hard times with which the one-crop farmer has been confronted in the past," Mr. Cargill stated.

That McCulloch County farmers are falling in line with their project is evidenced by the increasing demand for thoroughbred chicks and pullets, according to information from the managers of the Mayhew Laymore and the H. G. Ogden farms, who are operating a commercial hatchery in connection with their chicken farms. Numerous advance orders for fall hatching have already been placed by farmers of this county, ranging from a few dozen to 2000 chicks. Each of these hatcheries is equipped with a 12,000 egg incubator, and the Mayhew hatchery it at present installing another incubator of the same capacity.

It is the White Leghorn chicken which will put Brady on the map, the secretary of the Brady Chamber of Commerce declared. Lady Laymore, the first lady of Brady's new poultry town, and her peerless husband, Sir Laymore, are White Leghorns, and so is very other feathered inhabitant of the four chicken farms.

Five strains, the English, the Tancard, the Kazmeir, the American and the Laymore Leghorn, are to be found on these farms. The Laymore strain is a Brady product, having been developed by the Mayhew Laymore Farm by the scientific interbreeding of six different standard strains of Leghorns.

Mr. Mayhew is enthusiastic over the possibilities of his new strain of chickens. Last year his premier male product, "Sir Laymore," was awarded the grand champion prize at the Waco, Abilene and San Angelo poultry shows. His prize hen holds the record of egg production in McCulloch County, and perhaps this section of West, Texas, having laid 314 eggs during the last year, or an average of 26 eggs per month.

The chicken improvement program has just begun. Twelve months ago, with the exception of a few on the Ogden Farm, there was not a trap nest in McCulloch County. Today almost every laying house on Brady's chicken farms is equipped with trap-nests. A number of farmers already have adopted them.

Fowls Carefully Culled.

"We are carefully culling our birds, and there is not a hen on our farm with an egg record under 200," H. N. Brannum, manager of the Mayhew Laymore Farm, stated. "Many of our hens lay between 250 to 300 eggs, and a few exceed the 300 mark. We shall raise this standard still more as we go along."

Woman Operates Farm.

The Blue Bonnet Farm, operated by

Mrs. Mary Harrison, and the $10,000 demonstration poultry farm sponsored by the Brady Chamber of Commerce, which were established this spring, have so far been strictly infertile egg farms, but Mrs. Harrison contemplates the purchase of a flock of pedigreed cockrels for the purpose of breeding chicks for her own and for commercial use.

All of the 25 or more houses on the four poultry farms are modern in every detail, well ventilated and lighted, and equipped with every approved apparatus for successful poultry raising. City water and electric lights have been put on every farm.

Mrs. Mary Harrison, A. M., who has given up a professorship at one of the state institutions in order to go into the poultry business, seems to have been particularly successful in a house of her own design. "I have not had a cold or a disease of any kind in my chicks, and I would not exchange my type of house for any other in the state," Mrs. Harrison enthusiastically declared.

The house is 38 by 50 feet in dimension with the ends facing north and south. With the exception of a door and three small glass windows beneath the trap-nests, the north end of the house is completely closed and thus the possibility of a harmful draught is eliminated.

One hundred trap nests line the north wall. The south end admits an abundance of fresh air through the center and has a continuous four-foot wire screened opening in each side of the door.

The east and west walls are of uniform design, with pane glass windows reaching nearly to the ground and pane wire screened shutters three feet above the ground between the windows.

The running roost, with a straight 14x29 foot dropping board 30 inches above the floor, is located in the center of the building, giving access from all four sides to the cleaner. Three ventilators, one in the center of the roost and one on each side, coming down from the roof through the ship-lapped loft, add much to the comfort of the chickens at night.

Buildings Are Scientific.

The four laying houses on the chamber of commerce demonstration farm and one on the Ogden farm are of the Kazmeier type, but the shed roof type predominates on the Ogden farm and is exclusively used on the Mayhew Laymore farm.

One of the features of the brooder house on the Mayhew farm is the Jamesway ventilating system, which according to the manager of the farm, gives excellent satisfaction. The brooder house consists of ten rooms, with a capacity of 300 chicks to each room, and is equipped with electric brooders.

The incubator houses on the Mayhew Laymore and the Ogden farms are said to rank among the best in the state. The cement floor, composition roof and asphalt walls, ship-lapped inside and outside, enable a perfect regulation of temperature.

Straw seems to be the favorite scratch litter, three of the Brady poultry farms are using it exclusively, but H. N. Brannum, manager of the Mayhew Laymore farm, is loud in his praise of moss peat, which his farm uses. Mr. Brannum likes it because of its high absorption value, being capable of absorbing moisture ten times its own weight.

Each of the Brady farms is located on a gently sloping hillside, thus insuring prompt drainage in wet seasons. Scrub oak and groves of mesquite afford the needed shade for the birds on the chamber of commerce and Ogden farms. The Mayhew Laymore chicken houses are built on the edge of the beautiful pecan motte fronting Brady creek, the same place where 20,000 turkeys posed last fall for cameramen of the Pathe and International News.

FARM PRODUCTION IS INCREASED IN WACO

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOSTERS BETTER AGRICULTURE IN McLENNAN.

(Waco Times-Herald.)

Two years ago the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce acting on the suggestion of County Agent E. R. Eudaly, decided to offer $1000 in prizes for a county-wide contest to be shaped along the "most dollars per acre" plan.

Prizes were designated in sums of $500, first; $300, second and $200, third. Basis of the contest was not to reward the farmer who produced the most cotton, but to reward the man who cleared the most money off a 10-acre field in one year.

The first year there were about 45 farmers to enter the contest. There was no entry fee, but the participant was required to keep a detailed account of all expense and revenue concerning the field he selected as his entry. In addition the county agent who served as the clearing agent for all data in the contest made frequent visits to all fields and in other ways saw to its general good conduct.

When the first contest came to a close, about the end of last year, there was a mass of interesting data that had been brought out by those who stuck with the contest to the end.

Fike Won Last Year.

J. B. Fike of Mart, a devotee of terracing, and an exponent of scientific agriculture went away from the final check-up meeting with a voucher for $500 in his pocket winning first prize.

Idea Duplicated Elsewhere.

So favorably was the "most dollars per acre" idea received in other parts of the state that this year, three other counties adopted this kind of a contest.

The Chamber of Commerce was thoroughly sold on the matter and through its agricultural committee again voted $1000 for prizes, and also decided to allow seven other central Texas counties to enter.

Forty men registered for the race. A few dropped out when the extent of the drought was realized but the majority of those who started stuck it out to the present time.

Although the number participating has been cut somewhat by the drought, it has been an aid in another way. The man who wins out this year will have had to work doubly hard; for he has had to overcome a natural difficulty as well as beat his neighbors at the regular routine of planting, cultivating, poisoning and picking. Just how he schemed out his troubles, and how he overcame all these difficulties should make interesting material for every cotton farmer. It should make data that many of them can turn to personal profit in the years to come.

Allbright to Win.

First place in the cotton contest this year may as well be conceded to Munroe Allbright a tenant farmer on the T. C. Westbrook farm, just a mile or two southwest of Satin.

A week ago, four bales had been cleared off his field, two more were about picked, and parts of the field showed a bale an acre still remaining. Several relatively bare spots in the 10 acre plot, however, will make his total yield around nine bales, slightly under a bale-an-acre average.

This should be enough to win first place. Explaining Mr. Allbright's unusual showing, one finds first that nature was on his side. The soil was unusually rich, and it was sub-irrigated. It lies along a creek, which ordinarily carries a substantial volume of water.

Irrigated by Nature.

The fact that it was irrigated by nature is the paramount factor in the splendid showing. This is not all, however. Mr. Allbright, a farmer of many years' experience carefully cultivated the field, and he employed every weapon in his power to make a favorable showing. In his efforts he was backed to the utmost by Mr. Westbrook.

Although he used no fertilizer he has already cinched the $500 prize.

A boll count made last week showed 362 bolls in a ten-step portion of one row, at the best part. In the thinner part, a count of 170 bolls in the same distance was made.

Four bales, weights 502, 533, 545 and 557 pounds have already been ginned, and there is more cotton in the field than has been taken out.

Good Staple.

Staple of the cotton has been unusually good. Half of the cotton picked thus far has been of one and one-sixteenth inch variety while the other half has been of one and one-eighth inch stuff.

Feeling that the crop was matured, Mr. Allbright made no effort to stop the leafworms, when the army of these destroyers attacked his fields, and now a leaf is a rarity about the patch. The bolls, however, dot the field very thickly.

A hot contest for second place in the race is now certain. There are no less than four farmers running nearly "neck and neck" for this place. The margin will be very slight between some of them.

Second and third winners will have data which will probably prove of more value than that of Mr. Allbright, due to his natural advantage.

Borrowed Steer to Begin on, Henry Miller, Cow Baron.

San Francisco, Oct. 9 — A business that started from a borrowed steer and grew to be one of the biggest land and cattle projects in the world is being split up here, because it is too unwieldy to handle.

The business, that of Miller and Lux, found root back in the gold days when young Henry Miller, not long over from Germany, opened a butcher shop in a little California town. The construction of the shop exhausted his assets. He had to borrow his first assortments of beef cuts and steaks, while it was still on the hoofs.

From the beginning grew an empire of some 800,000 acres of land in California, 120,000 in Oregon and 80,000 in Nevada, the richness of which has never been estimated. The land now is to be cut into small sections and sold.

Henry Miller turned to cattle when others turned to gold. He bought lands almost a county at a time, for 65 cents an acre in the wide flats of the San Joaquin Valley. He specialized in river land, avoided by others, because of its malarial threat, establishing priceless water rights.

Some years he came into competition with big Lux land interest, which were blazing a new empire in the wilderness of Oregon and Nevada. For a time they battled for supremacy, and then joined forces, forming the world famed combination of Lux and Miller.

One of the greatest achievements of the firm was the building of a great canal from the headwaters of the San Joaquin to the navigable portion of that waterway, approximately 70 miles. Some 15 thriving towns subsequently built in the reclaimed wilderness, through which this artificial waterway runs. The railroad followed the canal and land shot up from $65. to $1000, an acre.

When Lux died Miller bought out the airs. When Miller died the mighty estate fell to heirs. He was known far and wide as the cattle baron.

Good Records Are Necessary for Passes

College Station, Texas, Oct. 13.—In order to get passes to attend out-of-town foot ball games this year the students at the A. & M. College of Texas must have good scholarship and disciplinary records and be over 21 years of age, according to information sent out by Colonel F. H. Turner, commandant of the College. If the first two conditions are filled successfully, though the student is under 21, he will be given a pass if the written consent of the parent or guardian is obtained. The entire cadet corps will go either to Houston for the Rice game or to Waco for the Baylor game this year, the faculty not yet having decided which will be the trip taken.

A. & M. Needs More Building Report.

College Station, Texas, Oct. 13.—"The crowded dormitory condition at the A. & M. College of Texas is the most serious problem faced by the College authorities in enforcing discipline and effective scholarship conditions," according to information sent out in a letter from President T. O. Walton to parents of students. Practically every desirable room now has three boys, and some of them four. The State is committed to the theory that men who apply to State institutions shall not be turned away and for that reason students who can meet the requirements are never refused admittance to the College. But the great drawback is that the Legislature has not provided funds for additional dormitory facilities as the enrollment has increased."

Household Suggestions

By MINNIE NELL BLAYLOCK.

At the Table—

The napkin, folded in half, should be laid across the knees. When taking a single meal at a friend's home, the napkin is not re-folded in its original creases. At home or when visiting for more than one meal, do as the rest of the family—that is, if a ring is supplied, fold the napkin carefully within the ring for use at the next meal, or if the others fold their napkins into the original creases and lay beside their plate, you should do likewise.

Use of the Knife—

Bread broken into a small piece at a time is buttered with the knife. The knife is used for cutting only—never for conveying anything to the mouth. It is always held in the right hand, and at the end of a meal is placed beside the fork points at the center, and handles resting on the edge of the plate.

The Fork—

The fork should be used with the forearm only. It is used to cut or break all foods that are not hard enough to require the use of the knife. Vegetables should be eaten with the fork alone; butter or potatoes should be taken on the tip of the fork; potatoes scooped from the skin with it. For eating ices, either a spoon or a fork may be provided.

Spoon Foods—

Breakfast cereals, fruits with cream soft boiled eggs, hot puddings and custards are spoon foods. The breakfast orange, or grapefruit, cut in half, is eaten with a spoon.

Oyster Season—

The first chill of a fall morning and a call from the market saying, "We have fresh oysters today," offer a combination irresistible to the lover of good things to eat. The following recipes will furnish variety:

Fried Oysters—Select large oysters, wash carefully and drain thoroughly. Dip in beaten egg, which has been seasoned with salt and pepper. Roll in fine bread crumbs. Fry a golden brown in deep fat. Garnish with parsley and serve with tartar sauce or tomato ketchup.

Oyster Dressing—One pint of oysters, 1-8 cupful butter, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 1-2 pints bread crumbs, 1 cupful chopped celery, 1-4 teaspoonful pepper. Drain oysters and pour cold water over them. Drain again, add butter and heat them to the boiling point. Combine with crumbs, chopped celery and seasonings.

Celery and Oysters—Two cupfuls diced celery, 1 cupful oysters, 1 cupful oyster liquor and water, 1-2 teaspoonfuls cornstarch, 2 teaspoonfuls butter. Cook the celery in boiling salted water until it is tender. Drain. Cream the corn starch, butter, and seasonings together. Heat oyster liquor and combine with corn starch and butter mixture. Cook 5 to 8 minutes in the top part of a double boiler before adding the oysters and celery. Continue cooking until the oysters are plump and the edges curled. Serve in patty shells.

Oyster Croquettes—One quart of oysters, one pint of chicken, a scant pint of bread crumbs, yolks of two eggs, one tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper. Chop oysters and chicken very fine, soak grated bread crumbs in oyster liquor, then mix all of the ingredients, and shape in cones. Dip in egg and cracker crumbs, and fry as usual.

Oyster and Potato Croquettes—Mix oysters with about an equal portion of mashed potatoes; with a knife, cut the mass up fine and add one-half pound of rolled crackers. Season with butter, pepper and salt, and moisten the whole with oyster juice. Make croquettes, roll in egg, then cracker crumbs, and fry until brown, in butter. Serve immediately.

Keep Whites of Eggs from Falling

When whites of eggs are being used for meringue, pies or custards add 1-2 teaspoonful flour to about 6 eggs, or if fewer eggs are being used, add less flour. This will prevent falling after they cool.

Peel Eggs Smoothly.

Fresh eggs do not always peel smoothly when boiled. As soon as they are done, crack the shell of each egg and put into cold water. The very freshest of eggs will peel nicely when this method is used.

MISS LOTTIE BANZHAF.

The death of Miss Lottie Banzhaf, daughter of Mr. Geo. Banzhaf, Milam County Farm Agent, occurred at Van Ormy, Texas, Monday night following a long illness, during which every aid had been invoked for her recovery. Recently she had been apparently better and in fine spirits but the end came suddenly after a turn for the worse on Saturday. Mr. Banzhaf was called by telegram on Saturday to her bedside.

The funeral occurred from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hood Caldwell on Wednesday and the interment was beside her mother in Murray Cemetery near Rockdale.

The flowers that covered her mound were many and beautiful. She is survived by one brother, Clayton Banzhaf of Temple and her sorrowing father, Mr. Geo. Banzhaf, who has the sympathy of many friends over Milam County.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Cameron Banker is Grieved at Death Christy Mathewson

When Christy Mathewson died the other day a real pang of sorrow was experienced by Fred B. Cable, cashier of the First National Bank, who knew Matty as a personal friend and mourns his loss not only to base ball but to this wide circle of personal friendship.

For years Mathewson trained at Marlin and it was there that Mr. Cable knew the great pitcher. Mr. Cable now has in his home a number base balls presented to him by Mathewson while in training at various times in Marlin.

Mr. Cable when the team was in training at Marlin was out on the field many times during the winter workouts and it was in these informal contacts with the great man of base ball that a warm personal friendship developed.

"I consider him the greatest of them all," said Mr. Cable in commenting upon the death of the grand old man. "He did more for base ball than any other man and was esteemed alike for his prowess as a pitcher and fine personal character."

PROGRESS CONTINUES AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

Sunday was another big day at the First Baptist church. The Sunday School is setting out to reach the A1 Standard in the next three months, and in addition to this, has set as its goal, 400 in regular attendance by January 1st. Mr. DuBois, the Superintendent, is ever on the job and will do his part in seeing that this is done.

The preaching service were well attended, and a good spirit was manifested throughout the day. The crowds are coming and are hearing the gospel preached. Pastor Hutcherson preached at the morning hour and the Assistant, Pastor, W. C. Binford, preached at the evening service. The choir and orchestra, along with the congregational singing, made the music worth while. In short, the whole church is on the upward move. A new B. Y. P. U. was organized for young unmarried people, which will fill up a gap in the B. Y. P. U. work of the church.

It seems that a better day is fast approaching for the Baptist church, and it is explained by the fact that the people are making it so by their interest, co-operation and prayers.

ENNIS BREAKS PRISON AND IS NOW AT LARGE

REPORTED IN CAMERON BUT NO CLUE FOUND TO HIS WHEREABOUTS

(Temple Telegram.)

City and county officers were watching all roads and highways last night following a report here that Harve Ennis, notorious burglar recently sent to the penitentiary under 18 year sentence following conviction in several cases in the Killeen robberies, had escaped from the penitentiary and was headed this way.

A report from the sheriff at Cameron said that Ennis had left there early last night in an automobile coming toward Temple. The sheriff and his deputies and the local police joined in the search.

Ennis escaped from the Belton jail and was captured in Vernon some months later just before he was taken to the state prison.

A deputy sheriff at Cameron telephoned the local authorities that Ennis had been seen there and later an officer at Buckholts telephoned to police headquarters here that the man believed to be Ennis had been through there and had bought some gasoline early last night.

Later reports were that the man had turned toward Granger and Austin before getting to Temple and several officers headed that way from here.

No confirmation of the report that Ennis was out of the penitentiary could be obtained last night. No word had been received from the prison authorities but every effort was being made to intercept the man believed to be a fugitive and trace down the reports that it was Ennis.

Sheriff L. L. Blaylock has been notified of the escape of Harve Ennis but so far has not been able to get a line on him. Mr. Blaylock was told that the man had been suspected of coming to Cameron on his way from the prison but this clue has not been established. However the Milam county sheriff is doing the most possible to assist in the capture.

The same messengers who were elected to represent the Churches at Thorndale will be seated as messengers at the First Baptist Church Cameron Monday the 19th.

Every messenger is urged to be present at 10 o'clock Monday morning as there is business of importance to claim the attention of the body.

Ezimonoce VS. Extravagance

You say there is no sense in Ezimonoce, there is no such word—well, you just read it backward and see how you should practice it—Economize.

Now, if you can have your set of Curtains repaired, put in new celluloid windows, if torn in some places, have it patched for $1.50 to $3.50. That is Economy, but to throw them away, and buy a new set for double the price is Extravagance.

As the Upholstry on your Car is some worn, and looks shabby, have us to put on a set of Seat Covers, from $7.50 to $12.50 That is Economy, but if for the above reasons you think of trading it in for a new car that is Extravagance.

If you need a new Center and Glass in your Ford back Curtain, only $3.00 put on, or perhaps, you can make out with just a new center in your Touring Car Top, $5 put on, why should you buy a whole new outfit for twice the expense? You readily see the difference between Economy and Extravagance.

And now as you commence plowing, if you have some good Leather Collars, Harness or Bridle that can be repaired, why should you be extravagant and buy all new?

And don't forget the Shoes you are now wearing, they are just getting comfortable, why put them aside, when for $1.25 you can have a new sole put on, sewed or tacked with A1 Leather?

Now speaking of Shoe Economy, we might consider the extreme upper part as well, and consider the Hats, say "The Ladies' Hats" how you can—Oh, What am I saying, interfering with style. If you Ladies will excuse me for this time, I take back everything I said about Hats; sorry I did not say more so I could take back more, but please remember us about the Shoes. It is such a pleasure to have so many of our customers come in and hear them say:

Just a Little Service, Please

Growth of Dallas Shown by Recent Dallas News Edition

Austin, Texas, Oct. 8.—High praise for the accuracy and historical value of the Dallas News, fortieth anniversary edition was given by Judge C. A. Wheeler, Assistant Attorney General, whose father was a Texas ranger stationed in Dallas in 1857. His father was A. S. Wheeler and the family resided in Cook County, though Judge Wheeler has lately lived in Texarkana. The father died in Cook County in 1917 at 81.

"My father frequently told me of the early days of Dallas and the recent splendid edition of the News confirms what he said to his children," said Judge Wheeler, who added that it is evident that the anniversary number has given a wonderful and accurate insight into the early and interesting history of Dallas.

"The News has portrayed the marvelous growth of Dallas by word and by picture," declared Judge Wheeler "as few historians could have done it."

Recounting what his father had said Judge Wheeler asserted that in 1857 there were only two general stores, a saloon, a blacksmith shop, a wagon yard and a two story frame hotel managed by a family living in it.

"An interesting story told us by our father was that of while he was stationed in Dallas a man tried to trade him a whole section of land of 640 acres adjoining and taking in what is now Oak Cliff," Judge Wheeler said "in attempt to attain my father's pony, valued at between $85 and $100." This was sighted as an illustration of how Dallas has grown.

Judge Wheeler complimented The News for the service it had done Dallas and the State in so faithfully portraying and preserving the history of an important part of Texas, now the metropolis of the state.

Would Take Power To Texas Towns.

College Station, Texas, Oct. 13.—For the purpose of carrying on a study of the possibilities of a greater application of electricity to farm usages and needs the Southwest Geographical Division of the National Electric Light Association has provided an especial committee to work in conjunction with the A. & M. College of Texas in this research. R. E. Sively of the San Antonio Public Service Co.; Carl A. Cox, Texas Power & Light Co., Dallas; P. F. McChesney, Eastern Texas Electric Co., Beaumont; and D. Scoates, professor of agricultural engineering at the A. & M. College and chairman of the special committee and Paul Freeman of Houston, representing the Western Public Service Co. of that city, were at the College this week drafting a report which will be submitted to John W. Carpenter, Texas Power & Light Co., Dallas under whose general direction the committee is working.

High tension lines are now traversing Texas. They carry such high tension on their lines, however, that it is now impossible to economically "step it down" to where it meets the farmers' needs.

BACK OF A GOOD NAME

Rarely in manufacturing history has a name entrenched itself so firmly in the confidence of the entire world as the name Dodge Brothers.

Everywhere and to everyone this name means but one thing: a product built honestly of the best available materials and sold at a just price.

Behind this product, this price and this enviable reputation lie certain impressive and fundamental facts.

So important is a knowledge of these facts to the motor car buyer that Dodge Brothers, Inc., have determined to publish them, from time to time, until every newspaper reader in America may be presumed to have read them:

Dodge Brothers, during the past eleven years, have built and sold more than one million four hundred thousand motor cars—and more than 90% of these cars are still in service. This record requires no comment. It stands impressively alone in motor car history.

It has never been Dodge Brothers policy to build yearly models. When an improvement, that is really an improvement, is discovered, it is made at once. Their slogan, "Constantly Improved But No Yearly Models" is familiar the world over.

Dodge Brothers build one chassis and only one. This policy materially lowers manufacturing cost. It also enables Dodge Brothers engineers to concentrate their entire time and thought on the betterment of this one type.

Dodge Brothers have never had an "off year" or an "off car." This is because they have never used the public as a testing ground for "new models" or lowered the quality of their product in the slightest degree. Every change has been an improvement on the original design.

Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel open car and the first all-steel closed car. These epochal developments have saved Dodge Brothers owners many millions of dollars by materially prolonging motor car life and by effecting marked economies in manufacture. This construction has also reduced incalculably the danger from accident and fire.

Dodge Brothers sell directly through their dealers to the purchaser. There are no sectional distributing agencies to increase the cost of distribution and the cost of the car.

Dodge Brothers have never given so-called "free service." The car is sold at a fair and honest price. Nothing is added to this original purchase price to pay for service that the owner may never need.

Dodge Brothers Dealers were pioneers in unanimously adopting the flat rate service system. By this system, the owner knows in advance what any service job will cost. There are no unpleasant surprises in his bills.

The sturdiness and long life of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is reflected in its resale value. Comparatively few Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are advertised in the resale columns of the newspapers. The values they bring testify unanswerably to their goodness—and the public's belief in their goodness.

The time has passed when transient novelties can lead a thoughtful buyer to overlook the great essentials of motor car worth. A few of these essentials, outlined above, go far to explain why Dodge Brothers name is accepted, the world over, as the hall mark of dollar-for-dollar value.

CAMPAIGN OF INTENSIVE FARMING BRINGS WEALTH TO LARGE AND SMALL GROWERS

By Victor H. Schoffelmayer,
Agricultural Editor of The News.

A demonstration farm under operation by the Citizen National Bank of Tyler, in Smith County, is attracting favorable attention. Of the twenty-eight acres in crops there are twenty-three in cotton, with three varieties, to determine their respective usefulness. These varieties are Cleveland big boll, Kasch and half-and-half cotton. The twenty-three acres yielded twenty-six bales of cotton, which is very remarkable, considering that the farm has been in cultivation for a generation or more, and has been built up to its present high productivity. Besides, there are two acres of soy beans and three acres of corn. H. H. Lytle of the agricultural department of the bank is in direct charge of the farm, but Judge J. W. Fitzgerald and Gus F. Taylor, officers of the bank, take a direct interest in every operation on the farm and frequently press into service Elbert Gentry, county demonstration agent.

The bank is making an effort to demonstrate that cotton can be grown profitably on the hills of Smith county. While it is no great thing to produce a bale of cotton an acre in the valley lands, it is getting more and more difficult to raise good cotton on the more or less depleted hill lands of all East Texas counties, unless they have been built up through terracing and fertilization in various ways.

Elbert Gentry, Smith County demonstration agent, says he will not be satisfied till the hills of his section produce three-fourths of a bale of cotton an acre. He says that is reasonable to expect when the crops are rotated and legumes are used to build up the soil.

Burnt Cotton Seed.

Last winter there was a big cotton compress fire at Greenville and Mr. Taylor conceived the idea that there would be considerable fertilizing value in the cotton seed which was saved from complete destruction. Arrangements were made to obtain some of this seed and it was applied to the bank's demonstration acres. This burnt seed was applied at the rate of 150 pounds an acre. On one-half of the cotton land 300 loads of barnyard manure was applied during the winter and plowed under to add humus and fertility, as well as from 200 to 400 pounds of acid phosphate and 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda.

One special acre tests the following commercial fertilizer was applied:

Two hundred and fifty pounds of acid phosphate, 200 pounds of nitrate of soda and fifty pounds of potash. These were checked with an untreated acre to show the difference in yields. Mr. Lytle reports that his Kasch cotton opened fully as early as the half-and-half and that it may out-yield the latter.

The Citizens National Bank demonstration farm is on typical rolling East Texas sandy soil. This is the kind of land on which the bulk of the East Texas cotton crop is grown every year. An effort is under way to prove that these lands can be made to produce much more cotton than the average now produced. The effects of this demonstration should be far-reaching and of great value to East Texas farmers.

Smith County Cotton.

From recent indications Smith County will produce not less than 50,000 bales of cotton this year, or an increase of perhaps 15,000 bales over the prospects six weeks ago. Mr. Taylor and Judge Fitzgerald agree that this large yield is the result of intensive farming practiced by Smith county farmers under the stimulus of the "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest and the "ten-year program" of agricultural development which Smith county launched last spring. Both believe that fully 10,000 bales of cotton have been added to Smith county's sum total for this year because of better farming and the intelligent use of commercial fertilizer.

Tyler is experiencing a steady increase in population and there are evidences of prosperity on every side. Three hundred and fifty cars of peaches at a price of from $1 to $2 a crate; 185 cars of water melons, 1,250 cars of tomatoes with a top crop on the vines which has brought an unexpected late bringing around $1.25 a crate when other sections had practically no tomatoes to ship—all these factors have brought money to Smith county.

Diversification is the accepted practice all over the county and business men and bankers take a personal interest in the improvement of conditions in the country and in the betterment of farming.

For months a campaign was carried on last fall and spring to induce farmers to intensify their efforts. This campaign was led by County Agent Elbert Gentry, assisted by Judge Fitzgerald and other agricultural leaders, who gave their time daily and nightly to sell this idea. Their efforts have been amply rewarded.
